Chapter 1 by Feyre Archeron

There she was, waiting to hear the car door shut, she crept slowly down the hallway to the window. She looked very carefully through the bottom so that he couldn't see her. When he slammed the door shut and drove away, Megan ran from the window to the basement. She threw her stuff into a plastic bag (she only had a pair of old shoes and 1 extra pair of clothes.) She ran to the door where an alarm was attached to the door, so that when it opens the alarm sends out an alert to his phone. She worked at the alarm, when she finally got it off so that it wouldn't go off she ran through the front door. As she ran down the street, she thought about how she'd Ben lock up in that house for almost 3 years and she went missing. She also thought about the day it all happen. When she got to the police station she was immediately is recognized from all the pictures and posters of her when she had gone missing.
